

Press Office
106 South Street
Easton, MD 21601
410-822-ARTS (2787)
asteward@goeaston.net

For Immediate Release - (Easton, MD - January 28, 2011)

Academy Art Museum Hosts Young Explorers Open House

The Academy Art Museum in Easton will host an Open House for its Young Explorers program on Wednesday, January 19, 2011 from 6 to 7 p.m. The Young Explorers program puts art and museum objects at the center of a child's day, encouraging exploration and discovery. As a part of Young Explorers, children will have ongoing opportunities to interact with professional musicians and artists who perform, teach, or exhibit at the museum. Through these interactions, children will learn about the creative process through active participation with these visiting artists.

The Academy Art Museum recognizes the importance of the first years of life for building a foundation for future learning through rich and varied experiences. Learning that is sensory in nature promotes optimal growth and development while at the same time engaging children actively in the process of knowing. The program is available for children ages two through four. Registrations for the 2011-2012 term will be accepted. For additional information please contact Melanie Young at 410-770-9792 or visit www.academyartmuseum.org.

CUTLINE: Pictured is Carson Clow, son of Christine and Jason Clow, a participant in the Academy Art Museum's Young Explorers program. Registration for the 2011- 2012 term is happening at an Open House for the program on January 19 at the Museum.